When Alice asked the Cheshire Cat “Would you tell me, please, which way I ought to go from here?”
the Cheshire Cat replied, “That depends a good deal on where you want to get to.”

In our rapidly changing world, you may have to decide “where you want to get to” a number of times during your life.

Today you may need a formal program of study leading to a university degree or professional designation.

Tomorrow you may want a course or workshop to update your professional skills or expand your personal horizons.

Like the Cheshire Cat, we can't tell you which way you ought to go, but we can help you along the path you choose.

Just call or write to us for information or for an appointment with one of our counsellors.
