

CONVOCATION

persistence and creativity

Terri Vowles, a UWO staff member in the Faculty of Medicine, gets a congratulatory peck from daughter Jennifer and granddaughter Teresa after receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree at Convocation June 6. Son Jaimie and husband Bill (holding Teresa) joined in the family celebration. Vowles has worked in the Faculty of Medicine's Research Office for the past seven years while pursuing her studies at King's College. With King's graduating the same day as Medicine, Vowles was able to graduate with both King's students and students in the faculty where she works. "It's been great," said Vowles. "I recognized many members of the graduating class today."